Dear Network Members:

WOW! I continue to be impressed with your enthusiasm and support of Dr. Bran Ritchie's program here at the University of Georgia College of Veterinary Medicine. While I am not a veterinarian, nor can I talk with you about the details of your birds or Dr. Ritchie's research, I can tell you that your group is one of the most dedicated I have ever encountered. In the world of development officers, your group ranks at the top!

Thank you for...

- Your consistent giving
- Your generous gifts
- Your regular correspondence and updates
- Your encouragement of others to give
- Your knowledge that research advances the of health of your birds

I am grateful for your commitment and for the opportunity to work with you to further this research. The Avian Health Network is a model organization, and I am lucky that you chose to support Dr. Ritchie. Thank you again for your devotion. Please come to Athens to visit if you are in the area.

Sincerely,

Kathleen Reid Bangle
Director of Development
